SEEN, HEARD & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

I feel in a sorter commending mood this week and the first one I shall commend is Governor Hugh White who says he is not going to call a special session of the state legislature until the U. S. Supreme Court says whether segregation in our schools can continue. Why make all plans for a dual system of schools and find THAT plan outlawed by the supreme court. Mr. White thinks it is better to wait and see, and that's exactly what I, too, think. Mississippi could easily find itself with TWO sets of public schools, then have use for but ONE set.

I want to commend President Eisenhower for standing pat on the proposition that the budget should be balanced before any taxes are reduced. If the nation continues with a policy of having budgets unbalanced, the only end is uncontrolled inflation. Every one of us would like to pay less taxes,, of course, but we have got into the present financial mess by spending more than we take in. That policy has to stop sometime, why not now.

I want to commend our supervisors who, while not saying anything publicly, have about decided that something should be done about the INequality of several beats.

I want to commend our city government which, under its tight City Manager, is slowly getting on its feet, even if no miracles have been achieved.

I want to commend the VFW, the po' man's place of recreation, for jumping in and aiding in worthy community endeavors, like providing an iron lung for polio victims, even if the club, the way I smell it, has more surveillance from the law than do other clubs who do less for the community.

We are getting out a rather short paper this week, not that such an issue is to our liking, but we have few ads and a rather meager amount of news. You can never predict about a country newspaper; 1 week fat, next week, thin. Last week, we had to leave out news already in type; this week, we have to use blank space.

This is Brotherhood Week. I did not write the editorial, "Not A Foreigner Among Them", with Brotherhood Week in mind, but it does fit in pretty well.

If YOU read this issue in a borrowed paper, it is because we cut you off for one week, just to remind you that your dues are due. You have to jog folks every now and then.

Lest Sax Weir and Cliff Hamby get jealous of Ellett Lawrence's name being in the paper and theirs not in, here are their names. Ground hog Barber and WPA Hamby. Good luck to both.

I am just telling you, Above and Beyond, at the show last weekend was a grand picture.

Green Street Continues To Grow. Johnnie Murphey has reopened his Hole-in-the-Wall cafe for colored patrons only.

The gdrepublicans in Washington apparently have been trying to proselyte our man Stevenson, being so nice to Steve.

For a long, long time it was nip and tuck between the Baptist Church and the Masonic Lodge about which stayed open most nights. Now the Methodists have joined the race. It is hard to predict who will win this relay race.

I told Andrew, when Maurice Clark of New Orleans got back on the mailing list this week, never to cut his name off because, he, like Grover Cunningham, will be around eventually and pay up. Dont give him out, as the saying is. That's the way we do Grover. He is a Bible student from 'way back. He is one of those rare folks who does what he thinks is right, regardless of what others may think. His wife is one of those Locke girls who came from the capitol of Little Texas, Jefferson. He once preached a sermon on the steps of the nation's capitol regarding some subject dear to his heart. Years ago he worked as a projectionist for Homer Williams. He now is a sort of rate clerk with the IC in New Orleans.

Roy Doak's Willie said he went up to Bryant to wed the girl of his choice but to find that she had gone to Indiana. Willie said that, anyway, his wife did not want him to marry that gal. It seems that Willie, while a citizen of this state, had negleced to ask for and get a divorce. Troubles shed from Willie like water does from a duck's back.

Willie, may we say is the colored boy(?) who comes around and cleans out our office, not particularly when the office needs cleaning, but when Willie's other multifarious duties permit. Contrary to what anyone may think, we pay him in money, not in rabbits. The reason we call him Roy Doak's Willie is that Willie works for Roy more than he does for anyone else. Roy gives him overcoats and, sometimes, his dinner.

Baptist Bible Class Lauds A. N. Rayburn

Mrs. A. N. Rayburn and Family
Grenada, Mississippi
Dear Friends:

We, the members of the Berean Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, wish to express to you our deepest sympathy in the passing of your loving husband and father—and our valued friend.

Newt, as he was familiarly called, was a charter member of our class—helping to organize it in 1921. His fellowship and help was always an inspiration to us. Too, his spirit of appreciation for all other people was indeed rare.

It is not possible to indicate adequately in a brief space anything as to is real worth, and his contributions published or unpublished, to the entire community—and to all with whom he came in contact.

To whatever place he was called, he entered upon his duties with enthusiasm, with determination and with consecrated purpose that could but result in that real success for which all should strive.

His Grace is sufficient under every condition, and every circumstance of life. Numbers 6:24-26 is our prayer to all of you.

Your friends
THE BEREAN BIBLE CLASS
Committee: J. B. Perry, Jr., J. H. Oliver.

Will Yarborough Died Recently Near Holcomb

Will Yarborough, around 65, died in the home of his niece and nephew Mr. and Mrs. Homer Aiken, in the "old tavern", near Holcomb on February 10, 1953.

Facts are sadly absent in writing a piece about old Will, but the writer has been knowing Will ever since about 1890, when Will's folks moved to Oxberry and rented a house and land from my father. Will was just a little older than I was. The family moved into Oxberry from Choctaw County and has been in the Oxberry neighborhood ever since. He was unmarried.

There were 3 boys, Henry, Will and Ed and at least one daughter who died and left two little daughters, now Mrs. Homer Aiken and Mrs. Buddy Linley. Will's father died when Will was a small boy. Will and his mother, Mrs. Frances Yarborough, and Ed raised the two little orphan girls.

Will and all the Yarboroughs were always po' folks, but they were honest, hard-working folks. No family at Oxberry ever got their crop planted sooner, not it "chopped over" sooner, or picked cleaner or quicker than did the Yarboroughs.

Around Oxberry, it was always pretty well known that Will would get his secret whiskey by the keg and that he would stay with one keg until it was empty. However, nobody can remember that old Will ever got into any trouble with the law, no matter how much whitelightening whiskey he may have consumed.

His mother, the late Mrs. Frances Yarborough, being a widow of an old Confederate veteran, drew the widow allowance from a grateful state and, while it was never positively known, it was suspected that some, at least, of that money went for secret whiskey for Will.

Henry Yarborough, Will's older brother, too, a hard-working, honest man, has been dead these many years. Ed is still living and still in and around Oxberry.

His tasks on earth having ended, Will's body was buried at Bethel, near Oxberry, last Sunday.

Seeks Information About Her Father, The Late H. C. Orman

Mrs. T. A. Brinkley care of Texaco Co., Box 1728, Atlanta, Georgia is seeking some information concerning the backerround, and the kinsfolk of her father, the late Henry Clay Orman of Grenada. Mrs. Brinkley will be remembered here as the youngest of the 4 children of Mr. Orman and wife who was Miss Mattie Terrell. Mrs. B. was the blonde named Katherine.

Mr. Orman was supposed to have come from Webster County and to have had 3 or 4 brothers there. One brother was said to have become sheriff of some delta county and to have been killed while on duty there.

Here are some things that I personally remember about Mr. Orman. He was an expert cotton classer and sometimes was with Newberger Cotton Company. He drank a lotta Mohawk whiskey and kept a Sub-Rosa cigarette in his lips almost all the time. He lived on Union Street in the house now occupied by Mrs. Joe Jackson. He was rather strict with his children and, even though he did not set them too good an example in ways of living, tried to make them do right in every respect.

There were two boys, Henry and Clarence; two girls, Eva May and Katherine. Clarence died in Colorado and so did the elder Orman shortly after the family left Grenada before 1915. Henry Jr. worked for Joe Brown at the oil mill; Clarence worked at the post office. Eva May, now married, and Henry live in Los Angeles; Katherine, in Atlanta. "Miss Mattie", as she was called died in Los Angeles several years ago.

Katherine is now trying to fit in the pieces in her father's Webster County family. If YOU know anything write Katherine at the address given above.

a little daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Billy McMaster at the Greenville Hospital on February 14.

Willie seems to be somewhat like Ellett Lawrence's yankee friends. Troubles dont bother him.

Eighty eight breeders of Angus cattle in the eight county area surrounding Grenada, ate steaks and discussed the possibilities and advantages of their newly organized "Yalobusha Valley Aberdeen-Angus Association" at the City Hall here Monday night, February 16.

Mr. J. H. Horn Celebrates Birthday

Mr. J. H. Horn celebrated his 82nd birthday on February 10, at his home on College Street.

Mr. Horn, ex-Mayor of Grenada is interested in all local news and in keeping up with the radio. He has their guest Mr. Dave Patterson, who is an invalid, lives at the Horn home now, and although Mr. Patterson is quite ill now is company for Mr. Horn these winter days.

Mrs. with their beloved daughter and niece, Miss Lizzie Horn, reside at the Horn's residence on College Street.

James Forbes Honored At State College

James R. Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Forbes of Grenada, has received several honors at Mississippi State College where he is a student.

He was recently initiated into Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society for ROTC students. Only 15 other students were so honored.

James was initiated into Kappa Alpha, social fraternity, recently also.

The initiation into Scabbard and Blades lasts a week. Monday thru Friday they voluntarily undergo rigorous drill routines, daily schedules, and various ceremonies. Their day begins with reveille at five each morning and ends with a climatic afternoon drill at five. During the afternoons they perform unusual drills, participate in an "egg war" give individual skits and performances.

He is a veteran of the Korean War.

Sunday afternoon, Mabel and I dropped into Evergreen to spend a few moments with our friends Tom and Mary Meek.

The GCW Gets Around

Continuing (upward on the list) our tale about out-of-state subscribers, we find first Mrs. H. H. Stiegler of Humboldt, Tennessee. They were with Grenada Industries here, moved to Humboldt, keep on getting it.

Henry D Stone of New Orleans is Mrs. Mike Campbell's son-in-law. He is studying medicine at Tulane.

I dont know too much about W. F. Rupert of New York, but think he runs a clipping bureau.

But I know who J. B. Rose of Pampa, Texas is. He is one of old man Jim's boys.

The Roberts of Fort Dodge, Iowa are some of Miss Ruby McLeod's kinsfolk.

Harald Rotler picks up his copy of the GCW at the steamship office in New York and totes it back to his wife, Louise, in Norway.

Fed Robinson, our versatile columnist, who gets the GCW in Pine Bluff, is next.

Ruby Lee Pyron is one of our colored subscribers in Los Angeles.

Rev. C. A. Pharr of Clinton, Mo. is one of the many former Grenada preachers who get the GCW away from here.

Mrs. E. W. Peters of Terre Haute, Indiana, is, of course, a former resident here who keeps up thru the GCW.

Sgt. R. C. Peay gets it whereever he is. At this time he has some hellacious overseas address, care PM, San Francisco.

T. J. Reddit, a former Little Texan, now gets the GCW at Vermillion Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland.

George Peck, a famous New York columnist, gets the GCW regularly. When we find room, you may recall, we use some of his fine stuff.

Fred Pass, whose ancestrial roots are deep in the soil of Grenada County, gets the GCW in Detroit.

Charles Penn, one of "Miss" Nannie's boys, gets the GCW in Blytheville, Ark.

You would not recognize her by the name, but Mrs. S. W. Patterson, Jack Sandidge's daughter, gets the GCW in Lynchburg, Virginia.

R. W. Parham is Lester's brother and gets it care of Federal Compress in Newport, Ark.

W. L. Owens married one of Harry Wilson's daughters and gets the paper in Birmingham.

Do you remember the Owens twins John Brown and Kate Payne. Well, Kate Payne sends it every year to John Brown in Dallas, Texas. Next time, she will have to send $3.00.

Henry Orman in Los Angeles treated me so fine when I was there on 3 successive years, that he gets the GCW "forever", and that's a long time.

Pvt. Edna Odom, Domino Odom's daughter, gets the GCW in the WAC camp at Newburg, N. Y.

Dammed if I know who the next one is, but his name is F. E. O'Conner and he gets it in Hartsville, Mo. and he had better look at THAT date.

Mrs. Fred B. Neely, one of Juchheim's daughters, gets the GCW in Lewisburg, W. Va., and she, too, had better glance at her expiration date.

Do you remember those Wisconsin folks named Nohl that had the chair factory. One of Joe Jackson's daughters married one of them and she is a charter member in Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

J. W. Newton, once agent here, now gets it in Fulton, Ky. His renewal was in the mail this morning.

Last spring, Mabel and I were in our car between Cincinatti and Louisville I idly turned on the radio and first heard a fine voice and continued to hear a fine program, "Talk of the Town". Waiting until the conclusion of the program, I found it was Bette Maxwell on the station, WLAP of Lexington, Ky. I put a piece in the GCW about Bette and sent her a copy of the issue containing the article. Bette, whom I have never seen (but would like to), now gets the GCW and she says she reads it and enjoys it.

I think the next one on the list, Mrs. Lewis Peterson of San Diego, is Fed Robinson's daughter, but she may be Mrs. Pyron's granddaughter. I never saw her. Looking further, she IS Mrs. Pyron's granddaughter. Fed's daughter, further on in the list, is Mrs. William Parker of Roswell, New Mexico.

Next is Mrs. C. T. Mason, Jr., Mrs. O. L. Whitten's daughter, who married a sailor and now gets the GCW at Aahu, T. H., which is a long ways from home.

Ex Paxton is an "x" to me, but he gets the GCW in Greenburg, near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Next is William Nicholson who, after a big tour of the nation, settled down in Little Rock.

And here is C. S. Nickerson of Cotuit, Mass. He worked here during the construction of Camp McCain, and better look at HIS date.

I guess we had better leave something for next week.

Not A "Foreigner" Among Them

I was just now reading the list of the colored boys and girls of the A Capella Choir, composed of students of Grenada's Colored School, which has presented wonderful musical programs in this section, and, lastly, at the Presbyterian white church.

These folks are, in no sense, "foreigners", but are our own folks.

While I personally do not know a single individual boy or girl mentioned, I do know the surnames they bear, like Bostick, Phillips, Hardeman, Scott, Applewhite, Stinson, Fisher, Neely, Parker, Weathers, McCain - to mention only a few of them. These are all what folks call "good old English" names, not an African name in the bunch.

I doubt, if you searched the South you would find a Negro who bears the name of some far-distant forbear who came originally from Africa. Hardly without exception, a Negro bears the surname of some far-distant white family which owned his folks back in slavery time.

Look at some of the given names of the boys and girls: Grover, Alice, Thelma, Ida, Frank, Billy, Joe, Francis, William, "good old English" names there too.

The trainer, W. Vincent White, too, has only "good old English" words in his name.

Kennedy Hospital

Have you been reading articles in the Memphis papers about wards in Kennedy Hospital being closed and only "emergency cases" being admitted.

Since I have been a patient there on several occasions, I and other alumni of Kennedy should be interested.

After all is said and done, Kennedy (and other veterans hospitals) is merely up against a bad case of arithmetic - reduced or static income, more potential patients, lack of skilled doctors and scarcity of nurses as well as the overall condition of all expenses being greater for everything needed. When an individual or an institution faces that condition, something just has to "give."

Dr. Hugh Prather, Manager of Kennedy, has repeatedly been quoted as saying that he is doing the best he can with what he has, and that's all a mule can do.

All of us may look forward to a general tightening in all federal institutions now since there is a new administration in Washington, an administration dedicated to reduced federal expenses. Veterans may as well get used to the idea that they, too, will have to bear their part of these changed conditions.

As much as I and other humane-minded folks may regret to visualize it, veterans hospitals, including Kennedy, will just have to restrict their services to those veterans who CAN be put on their feet, and cease being life-time homes for those who have little or no reasonable prospects for eventual rehabilitation. Old soldiers' homes will have to look after these pitiful cases.

Hospitals such as that, and their managers are not heartless or cruel enough to FORCE out individual patients who are beyond repair and who have inadequate facilities at home for care. With reduced personnel and reduced income, the hospitals are going to have to choose between the individuals who need some surgical operation or some sort of medical treatment, and those who have little or no hope of ever being well again. They are just going to have to be realistic about such matters. The fellow who, with a little medication or an operation, can be restored to productivity, and thus work and help pay the expenses of the government, will eventually have preference in this work-a-day, realistic world. There is hope for the future for him, but, unfortunately, little or none for the po' devils who are bed patients, week in and week out, month in and month out, year in and year out - these hopeless, helpless cases stir the hearts of all of us.

Off To A Good Start

(By George Peck)

The half million citizens who were present to witness the inauguration and the many millions who viewed it over television, or listened to it over the radio, were electrified when, after having taken the oath of office, President Eisenhower offered up a prayer to Almighty God to guide him and his associates as they took over the huge task of rebuilding America. That prayer, recognizing that this nation grew great while it clung to the spiritual precepts laid down by its founders, is worth repeating again and again. Here follows the text:

"Almighty God, as we stand here at this moment, my future associates in the executive branch of the government join me in beseeching that Thou will make full and complete our dedication to the service of the people in this throng and their fellow citizens everywhere.

"Give us, we pray, the power to discern clearly right from wrong and allow all our works and actions to be governed thereby and by the laws of this land.

"Especially we pray that our concern shall be for all the people, regardless of station, race or calling. May cooperation be permitted and be the mutual aim of those who, under the concept of our Constitution, hold to differing political views, so that all may work for the good of our beloved country and for Thy glory. Amen."

This, President Eisenhower follows in the footsteps of other great Presidents of this nation. Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday we have just observed, said:

"If the Lord did not answer prayer, I could not stand it. And if I did not believe in God who works His will with nations, I should despair of the Republic."

Man's emancipation from the despotism of autocratic leaders stems from the Holy Bible. When printing was developed in the 15th century, the Bible was the first book to be set in type for wide distribution. From the Book of Books men learned that every man is created "in the image of God"— that man was meant to be free.

Fortified with this knowledge, freedom-seeking men and women, in rebellion against tyranny in Europe, set out in little ships across the vast sea, to establish what became the United States of America. By industry, thrift, intelligence and faith they converted a great wilderness into a nation that has grown to be the most prosperous in all world history.

It was little wonder, then, when the time came for these pioneers to break away from the mother country they called upon their God for help. History tells us how Washington and his ragged, half-starved, poorly-equipped army knelt in the mud at Valley Forge and prayed—how their prayers were answered and they prevailed against a much more powerful and much better equipped enemy.

History further records that, freedom finally having been won, the first Congress labored in vain for many months to draft a Constitution for the new nation, until wise old Ben Franklin suggested that they again invoke the aid of Divine Providence. This they did and again God answered — our wonderful Constitution evolved.

Thus, in religious faith America was born and in religious faith over the succeeding generations, America, grew and prospered. In recent years, there has been a "letdown" in that religious faith, and as a result, crime and corruption are sweeping the nation. Godless communism has infiltrated into both high and low places, because all too many Americans have forgotten that man is created "in the image of God", and was meant to be free.

Therefore, it is heartening to know that once again we have a man in the White House who, as his very first official act after taking the oath of office, humbly bows his head in prayer and asks the Almighty to give him and his colleagues "the power to discern clearly right from wrong."

That sense of discernment has been sadly lacking for some time at the nation's capital. It augurs well for the success of his administration and for America that President Eisenhower begins the greatest of many great services to his country with a plea to his God for guidance.

Lesson for February 22, 1953

ON February 22 we celebrate the birthday of a man who (it is said) claimed he could not tell a lie. That is an exaggeration. Almost any man can tell a lie if he tries hard enough. But even if this were such a wonderful world that literally nobody could tell a lie, it might still not be the ideal world. For what is most important is not choking back the falsehoods, important as that is. The big thing is to tell the truth. And it is even harder to tell the truth and tell it right, than to keep from lying. Truth can be told in a dull way so that no one listens to it. If truth is worth telling it ought to be pointed,—and when we say "pointed" we mean that three ways.

Pointed At—

For one thing, truth may as well not be told at all if it is not pointed at somebody. There's no use telling your deaf old grandmother about the circus; she's not going. There is no use telling a small baby to keep his face clean. There's no use giving a lecture on space-heating to an audience of Hottentots; they're hot enough already. You're talking to the wrong people.

Dr. Foreman

Truth ought to be fitted for, and pointed toward, the people who need it. The Master-Teacher himself showed how this is done. Much of Jesus' most vital teaching was directed to what we would call "hecklers." Sometimes their questions were meant to trip him up (like the three recorded in Matthew 22). Sometime they were asked from mere curiosity, sometimes they were desperate gropings for light. But whatever the motive, Jesus always gave them answers—plus. He would take advantage of the moment to push in a pointed truth. If only preachers and Sunday school teachers—and politicians too—would spend more time answering the questions people do ask, instead of questions they don't ask!

Sharp Enough To Stick

There is another sense in which truth, to be effective must be pointed. It has to be the opposite of dull. Now there are situations where truth can be dull, and welcome. If you are looking up in the encyclopaedia the population of North Dakota, or trying to find out what niacin is, you don't want to be amused, startled or entertained. You just want plain fact, plainly stated. Professors and other studious people are trained to absorb truth no matter how dully it is presented. It's a poor student who can't learn as much from a dry professor as from a witty one.

But most human situations are not in class-rooms. Truth that is not dry, ought not to sound dry. Truth that's worth remembering ought to be told in such a way that it can't be forgotten. Again, our Lord's teaching was of this sort. He never told a dull truth, and he never told his bright truth in a dull way. His sayings are all pointed; they have a way of sticking in the mind. What he says flashes in the eye like sunlight on steel. There was no one around taking notes when Jesus spoke. His sayings are remembered not because somebody had a good notebook but because what he said, stuck.

"To The Point"

What do we mean by a pointless joke or a pointless remark? We mean, of course, that the thing was not worth saying, however true it may have been. We want people to speak to the point. If we are going to listen to them we want them to be saying something that is worth saying, something we'll be worse off for not knowing. Now again Jesus' teaching was pointed truth in this sense. It was relevant truth, it was truth dealing with specific situations. He came "down to brass tacks" as we say. His teachings did not float away up in the clouds, they came down to earth and walked there. They had to do with people's real problems. And what we shall find out, if we study Jesus' teachings faithfully, is they deal with our problems today too. The problem of the demands—sometimes seeming to conflict—of church and state, of country and conscience; the problems of death and of the life beyond; the problem of how best to serve and obey God; these concerned the men of ancient Judea, they concern us no less. Jesus' words are just as pointed today as they were nineteen centuries ago.

SEEN, HEARD & TOLD BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

John Capuson, Grenada's excellent former Capsule Cop, left Millington at the mercy of the vigilant enemy Saturday, came down to Grenada to get his wife, and take out a subscription for the GCW and return to Memphis where he and wife have an apartment. The former cop is an AD3 a-g Maint NARTU NAS, whatever that is at Millington air base near Memphis. Whatever Johnnie is we wish him and his new wife, well.

We have lost a few subscribers when we went up, as was to be expected. I am very certain, however, that, where we lost one, we gained 2 or 3. The GCW continues To Get Around.

After the GCW went on to Mr. J. H. West on a rural route here for 4 or 5 months, somebody finally notified us to send the GCW to him at his daughter's address in Detroit. The West family, indeed, is a fine one and, we hope, he will enjoy the GCW which, henceforth, will be sent to him in Detroit.

Talking to a big Greek who runs a cafe in Oxford, I found out that he knows Tommie Darras like we here do: fine boy, but "he carries a lotta wind."

Somebody asked me Sunday morning, if I was going to the Messina wedding scheduled that day. Italian weddings are OK, but, remembering the reception following the marriage of Frank Marascalco's daughter at the community house about 12 years ago I am bound to say Italian receptions are too rich for my blood.

I still remember that reception held at the community house as the grandest reception I ever attended.

Following the dues at the country club being raised without my knowledge or consent, I put in my written resignation. After all, I dont play golf, dont drink much licker and dont do big gambling and, consequently, have been somewhat of a sucker all these months and years. I originally intended to publish this letter of resignation, but Mabel pursuaded me not to do so. However, a resigned member of the club told me all about my letter, having seen it, so I might as well tell the world about it. The preceding part of this paragraph was the substance of my letter of resignation.

I understand the "law" has been trying to be pretty hard on the po' man's club - the VFW.

Last week, in writing up "Miss Bell" Salmon's death. I inadvertently omitted the name of another of her brothers, the late A. V. B. Thomas, Jr. He was called "Pig" Thomas, but has been dead many, many years. Pig married one of the Lamb girls and had a daughter, Mrs. Pomeroy.

I neglected, also, to add my personal congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brown of Ashville, on their golden anniversary celebration.

From the article in the Ashville paper, the Browns, too, have multiplied.

We got so crowded last week, and in such a helluva hurry, we neglected to include an article, already in type and one we had solicited about whatthehell Rodney Defenbaugh was doing.

The GCW Gets Around.

It was particularly appropriate that Fed Robinson's fine article about Abe Lincoln should appear last week in the issue dated, February 12th. The Great Emancipator's birthday. I earnestly recommend that folk read this article whose preparation required considerable knowledge and research. (The was meant for last week, but got crowded out.)

The late Mrs. Upshaw had two sons, Will and Rogers, and two daughters, Mary and Blanch. When Will's wife was buried here Tuesday the four brothers and sisters were together for the first time in many, many years. Mary, as all of us know, married Sell Jones, who is dead. Blanche lives in Atlanta and is wife of Dr. John Duncan. Will lives in Oklahoma and Rogers in Texas.

Sue finally made Willard Odom come in and get his dues straightened out.

Ants have been in Clarance Burt's pants ever since January 26 when he missed a copy of the GCW. The ants worried him so much that he telephoned from Chicago to The Plant asking that he get a copy of that 4-page issue. The mail came in from The Plant, transferred the information to us, and we mailed Clarence his copy which, we hope, he got Monday.

Here's a plug for the quart size supervisor in the pint size beat, Albert Clark Mrs. Kate Gray, in her Mt. Nebo News in the Coffeeville Courier, reports that Albert was out early Monday morning on his road machine and, further, that "he is giving us some good roads."

90 PERCENT OF FISH DYING OF OLD AGE

For Shame Anglers!!

Ninety percent of Mississippi's fish are dying of old age.

Yes, that's right! According to studies made by specialists with the Game and Fish Commission, fishermen take only about ten per cent of the fish that should be taken from Mississippi waters each year. Several times as many could be caught without hurting the fishing. In fact, if several times as many were caught, fishing would be better.

This, says Spencer Smith, chief fisheries biologist with the Game and Fish Commission, is because conditions in Mississippi make for fast growing fish and the average life of crappie and bass is only about four years.

"When fish grow as fast as they do in Mississippi waters they need to be harvested fast", Smith said. "Otherwise they do what most of our fish are doing, die of old age."

Growing fish, he explained, is like growing corn. If the stalks are too thick none gets very large. When the life cycle of the corn is completed, the stalk dies anyway, regardless of the size it has reached. The same holds true with fish. When a fish gets grown he should be caught; otherwise he dies of old age and goes to waste.

Some fishermen like to excuse a bad day by saying, "the water has been fished out." Actually, the opposite is more likely to be true. Fisheries biologists have found, for instance, that most of the rich lake waters of Mississippi can never be "fished out" with mere hook and line. The same holds true for many of our streams. All fishing in Mississippi needs to make it better is more fishermen taking more fish.

When fishing does get poor in a lake, the fisherman can do much to improve it by fishing that lake more often. He should first go after rough fish such as carp, buffalo and catfish. Getting them out is like weeding a corn field. It makes room for game fish. Then he should fish more for game fish to give the young ones room to grow. Finally, he should encourage other anglers, including tourists from out of state, to spend more time fishing Mississippi waters.

The fishing in Mississippi is already better than in most of the rest of the country. The way to make it even better is to catch more fish. When fish are dying of old age there's one sure way of putting a stop to the waste, go catch 'em.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Frank James, Pleasant Grove; D. H. Browning, Graysport, and A. H. Ducus, Holcomb, have been added to the number of farmers cooperating with the Grenada County Soil Conservation District.

Mr. Browning has planted 3000 lespedeza bicolor seedlings as food and cover for the quail on his farm. The scarcity of quail in the county this season has emphasized the need for this practice on a larger scale.

The district has 7000 bicolor seedlings that are available to cooperators desiring to establish wildlife areas on their farms. The bicolor is planted in plots of about 1000 plants to provide an area large enough to attract game birds. Borders may be prepared adjacent to woodlands by plowing 4 or 5 rows and setting the plants 2 feet apart in the rows. The bicolor should be fertilized, cultivated and protected from grazing.

The district also has available 10,000 multiflora roses to be used to establish "Living Fences", for demonstration purposes. The roses make a "blooming kind of hedge" that is cattle proof. These plants will be distributed without cost to cooperators who will agree to plant them according to district specifications.

Many farmers in the county have expressed a desire to plant coastal bermuda for pasture and hay. Approximately 5000 stolons are required to plant an acre. The approximate cost per thousand is $1.00 - $1.25, plus the cost of transportation. Should you desire enough stolons to get a start on your farm, contact your work unit conservationist.

She was the former Miss Rogers of Shannon, Lee County, Mississippi and a sister of Grenada's Dr. H. T. Rogers. Her late husband was Mr. Frank McElwrath, brother of the late A. T. McElwrath of Grenada.

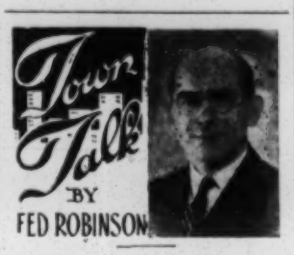
The GCW Gets Around.



Recently a kindly building manager gave me a peculiar kind of key which will open any of several doors at my new offices, and this favor is appreciated because it enables me to discard 3 or 4 keys as the master key is the only one I need. Well, we have been thinking about some other kind of keys which men use and depend upon to open the doors to things they seek in life. Personal happiness is probably one thing everyone is looking for, in fact the constitution of our country mentions the right of each individual to pursue personal happiness and more people are constantly seeking it than any other objective. This privilege of the "pursuit of happiness" written in the grand old constitution is a little ambiguous for the very good reason one does not need to PURSUE happiness as he would a wisp in the wind. Happiness is almost every where, needs no pursuing - we can just let the buckets down right where we are if its happiness we are seeking. So we say the only key one needs to find happiness is the key to his own front door. However, we find different kind of keys are tried in the door of happiness. Some use the key of liquor, some use the key of political power, some the key of popularity, and many use the big key of money trying to open the door of personal happiness, all of them fail. This writer will not attempt to tell the readers the name of the key they should use as individuals to open their own doors to happiness, but for him, there is this one: the key of faith in the love of God, and a desire to be of some help and service to his fellowman. An old, old truth, one that never fails, is we find happiness for sure when we are busy creating happiness for others. But to run after happiness results only in disappointment. For like your shadow - it moves onward a little ahead of you. Read a story some time ago about a poor man found dead of starvation, and upon examination they found hundreds of dollars in his pocket. He had the MEANS for sustaining food, but for some unexplained reason he had failed to use the money. This illustrates the stupidity of man, but no more so than the person who has the key to personal happiness but fumbles in the dark trying to open the door with keys that will never fit.

President Eisenhower added prestige to himself and his great office when he insisted on saying a prayer at the beginning of his inaugural address. But he wasn't the first man who used those words, because in I Kings 3:9, the great Solomon prayed to God "Give therefore try servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may dicern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?" . . . "And the speech pleased the Lord, that Solomon had asked this thing", but we leave to you to read on through verse 14 and see what the Lord promised Solomon.

In an old Baptist hymnal "Songs of Faith" we see number 196 is titled "Throw Out The Life Line" in which we are urged to help people to be saved, and I think the words and music are beautiful. Well, we read a little story the other day about the keeper of a life-saving station on the Atlantic coast. He discovered his supply of powder used to fire the gun that throws out the life lines to victims of wrecked ships was exhausted but the weather was bad, and he hesitated to go 3 miles to the village, so he decided to wait a day or two. Well, sure enough that very night a ship was wrecked on the rocky shores nearby his station and he was out of powder and could not throw out the lines, so he saw the unfortunate men perish one by one as he wept in shame for his negligence. Well, since I'm a salesman and not a preacher will leave this thought for Felix Sutphin to develope into a good sermon, but I have often wondered why Christians threw out so few life lines themselves when we know they rub elbows with unsaved persons every day of their lives - because in every group these days will be found at least one Christian who knows the joys of the Lord. What's the matter mister, out of powder?

SOME FACTS ABOUT V.F.W.'S MIGHTY FORCE!!

There are nearly 20,000,000 war veterans in civil life today, most of them married and with children.

Commander John E. Williams said that in multiplying this figure by three it is found that over one-third of the U. S. population is comprised of veterans or their dependents.

The emblem of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is the Cross of Malta, which was also the symbol of the world's first brotherhood of men, the Knights of St. John, who were pledged to defend human rights in times of peace and war. Thousands of American communities are paying tribute to this organization of overseas war veterans during National VFW week.

V. F. W was the first to sponsor "Poppy Day". The first such sale was conducted in 1922, he said, and since then millions of the replicas of Flander Field's flowers have been sold as the "Buddy" poppy, the solicitations for rehabilitation and relief and to help maintain the organization's national home, near Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

"By now", Commander John Williams, of our local post, has said, "the public well knows that every penny contributed to the Veterans of Foreign Wars through its "Buddy" poppy campaigns is devoted to the relief of needy or disabled veterans and needy or disabled veterans and their dependents and to help run the national home. There are no deductions whatsoever for administrative expenses."

Thus, he further explained, the Veterans of Foreign Wars proceeds in exemplifying its motto: " We honor the dead by helping the living."

St. Peter's Catholic Church Is Scene of Nuptial Vows

Miss Messina Becomes Bride Of Francis B. Tyrrell, Jr.

Miss Katherine Messina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Messina, became the bride of Francis Barry Tyrrell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Tyrrell of Chelsea, Mass. in a wedding of wide interest at St. Peter's Catholic Church Sunday afternoon, Feb. 15.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was lovely in a traditional wedding gown of imported creamy white lace. The dress featured a fitted bodice, bouffant hoop skirt, self covered buttons down the back, cathedral train, and a portrait neckline encrusted with seed pearls.

Her short veil was of imported white silk illusion and fell gracefully from a halo Juliet cap.

The brdie carried a sunburst bouquet of satin and moline with white orchids and white lilacs imported for the occasion from Belguim.

The maid of honor, Miss Rose Messina, sister of the bride, wore a frock of pink nylon net over taffeta with a net stole. She carried a corsage of pink carnations. Her Juliet cap was of net and velvet.

The bridesmaids, Misses Rose Marascalco, Patricia Taylor, Josephine Barranco, and Rene Morrison, wore frocks of blue nylon over blue taffeta and net stoles. Their caps were identical to that of the maid of honor and they carried carnation bouquets.

The bridal party entered the gorgeously decorated church under an archway adorned with white satin and huckleberry.

Twelve tall floor baskets of white stock, white gladioli, huckleberry and plomosus fern were placed in the sanctuary and nave of the church. Jade foliage "trees" were placed at the communion rail.

The three altars in the church were covered with delicately embroidered white linen and held silver vases of white glads, white stock and greenery.

Mary Messina, little sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white satin frock and net over skirt. Her headband was of white net, adorned with white carnations. She carried a white wicker basket of flowers.

Little Frank Marascalco was ring bearer. He wore a white satin formal suit.

Best man was William West of Ohio. Groomsmen were: Joseph Messina of Memphis, Little John Marascalco, Sam Barranco, and Bill Hogle of Chicago. Ushers were Tony Liberto and Joe John Marascalco.

At the end of the wedding ceremony, the bride and groom knelt at the Blessed Mother's Altar and the bride left her wedding bouquet on that altar. As they knelt at this altar, Mrs. Josephine Leflore of Greenwood, sang a solo.

Rev. Nathaniel Muchuski of Greenwood was organist.

Reception

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Messina entertained with a reception for several hundred guests at the American Legion Hut.

The serving table, which held the four tiered wedding cake, was adorned with vases of white stock, gladioli and greenery. Floor baskets of the same flora were placed in front of the elevated table.

Serving at the reception were: Misses Cecil Flint, Sue Ashmore, Ann Freeland, and Annette Marascalco. They wore white strapless formals in the ballerina length.

Wedding cake, brick ice cream, all kinds of delicious cookies, candies and nuts were served as well as Cokes.

Mrs. Messina, mother of the bride, wore a beautifully tailored Navy suit of wool flannel. Her straw hat featured white flowers. She wore a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Tyrrell, mother of the groom, wore a blue irridescent taffeta sleeve less frock. Her hat was fashioned of pink fabric flowers and sequins. She wore a corsage of white carnations and moline at her waistline.

The reception lasted until 10:30 Sunday night. All guests attended church at 7:30 and returned to complete the wedding celebration.

Rehearsal Party

The rehearsal party was given by the bride's parents at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Grace Marascalco. Attending were members of the wedding party and out of town guests. Cookies, cake, and punch were served. Dancing was enjoyed.

Defenbaugh Opens Company Feb. 1st

Grenada's business life has had one firm added to its total since February first in the opening of offices in the Heath Building by Defenbaugh and Company.

Manager of the firm is Rodney E. Defenbaugh, former president and manager of the Grenada County Chamber of Commerce and publisher of the Daily Sentinel-Star.

Primary activities of the company will be the writing of insurance in old-line, non-assessable mutual companies and the financing of all types of merchandise through recognized dealers. This phase of the business is familiarly known as conditional sales contracts and is usually applied to appliances, automobiles, etc., however, even building construction and other fields will be undertaken, according to Mr. Defenbaugh.

Real estate activities, to a limited degree, will be undertaken by Mr. Defenbaugh in his new operation and it is possible that personal loans may come into he picture at a later date, he added.

Thus Grenada Grows.

Boy Scout Week Being Observed

The Boy Scouts of America, with its membership at an all-time high in excess of 3,250,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders, is observing the 43rd birthday of the organization during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13.

The theme of the celebration, which is observed by 84,300 Scout Units is "Forward on Liberty's Team." This is the name of the Scouts' Three Year Program which seeks to produce a greater functioning manpower and provide a higher quality program for its ever-increasing boy membership.

Boy Scout Week celebrations this year will stress "The Scout Family" depicting how parents and others of the family often have a relationship to the Scout Program. At "open house" evening meetings Scouts will introduce members of their family to their fellow Scouts. At these meetings tribute will be paid to the American home, and its influence on the lives of boys and its place in a free society.

"SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD BY THE EDITOR"

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

At last a solution is read in The North Mississippi Herald of a problem which for years has baffled the scientific world. Wrote Editor Edward Shearer in his Watetr Valley paper: "A man suffering with a common cold went to his physician and asked for treatment. His physician told him: 'I don't know what will cure a cold, but if you will get out and expose yourself to the weather a little more, maybe you'll develop pneumonia. I know how to treat that'."

Reports about our absent colored cook, Edna, are conflicting. Mabel first heard that Edna was "low sick", then that she was seen walking out about Pine Hill. The latest report, from Roy Doak's Willie, who lives near Edna's home, that Edna got wet and, as Willie put it, "tuk a laps."

Do you like homemade hooked rugs: If so, you might drop by the home of Mrs. Carrie Goodwin and buy one or two. Although she is blind, her hands are never idle and she makes hooked rugs with hardly a fault in any of them.

Mrs. Frank Morrison is a lamb returned to the fold. She used to get the GCW, but James must 'uv cut her off in an irresponsible moment. Since she is now our Growing Green neighbor, she got on the mail ing list again.

I hear that Selma is going to leave the city water department and go to work for Monte Cristo.

The GCW Gets Around.

From what I hear, Jim Keeton, too, is crazy about his cat. Gertrude has fixed up the living room awfully fancy. The cat came in and began clawing the handsome cover on the handsome sofa. Jim heard some feminine grumbling, but said, if that cover aint good enough for the cat, get some other covering.

Mabel is always quarreling about our cat, how untidy he sometimes is, and how he rubs her legs and gets under her feet. She and Whyte Jr. were going to Oxberry. I told her to take the cat down there, but, when she left, the cat stayed here. She wont admit it, but I think she has a sneaking love for that stupid cat, even if the cat covets her stupid canary.

I sent Mabel a fine box of candy for Valentine Day. Kent thoughtfully included a small bottle of smelling salts.

The colored man who had been trying to get Miss Alma Acee's renewal money to us, found us at home one day last week.

Former poetress, Mrs. J. M. Bryant, sent in Mr. Bryant with the renewal money one day last week. Mrs. Bryant used to write some fine poems, but Frato, the Goddess of Poetry, must have deserted her.

I am getting so I dont miss John Huffington as much as I used to, as Albert Cohen has taken John's place in knowing about almost everything that's going on. Albert is what smart folks call ubiquitous.

Lewis Marascalco had to get his wife to put out several extra plates Sunday, as some of their Arkansas folks came over to see them.

Charlie Bennett, Grenada's former efficient Town Marshall, sent his renewal from Greenwood by his wife. Charlie is in some sort of business in that Delta town.

Aint they sweet.

WHAT WILL IT COST?
The price o fevery prescription compounded by us is determined by the cost of the ingredients plus a nominal fee for professional services. This is the only fair and square method for figuring the cost of any prescription. It assures you that no corners are cut in order to cut a price, and it also acts as a brake on unnecessarily high prices When you bring your prescription to us, you know that the medicine and the price will both be RIGHT.

You've got to go down... to go FORWARD!
A highly significant part of Gulf's development of Mississippi's oil and gas resources is its deep drilling campaign. The average depth of existing producing Mississippi wells seldom makes the headlines. But at 13,000 to 15,000 feet or more below the surface of the earth, a deep test well gives up information which, to Gulf's skilled geologists, points the way toward the continued expansion of Mississippi's oil and gas industry.
Gulf knows that you have to go down to go forward in the sound exploration for oil and gas.
Last year, Gulf's drilling in Mississippi totalled over 330,000 feet—and information gained should help push Mississippi forward toward even greater prosperity through the continued sound development of its oil and gas resources.

A sudden blow of nature finds telephone men and materials ready to move in and restore service as quickly as possible.
Mississippians will recall the great ice storm early in 1951. . . . Telephone men, many from other states, pitched in and worked round the clock to repair the damage.
Not only are we geared to meet troubles, but day-by-day we are always on the alert to prevent them — trimming trees, replacing poles, making repairs where advance inspections show there's danger of interruption or impairment of service.
In addition to working hard to insure good service to the users of the 247,000 telephones now serving Mississippi, we are expanding the service at the fastest pace in history.

"SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD BY THE EDITOR"

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

I dont know whether he was speaking of his own experience, quoting from a book he read, or from a picture he saw, but Griffis Meek said that, when the wife gets to fussing just walk out and go to the woods in the meantime saying nothing in rebuttal.

One of Mabel's fine nephews, Jack Erikson, now with a big furniture company in Meridian, has taken out a subscription to the GCW. Jack, an orphan, and with no "pull", has made rapid advances in the world on his own ability and his own merits.

His many friends will regret to hear that old Dave Dogan has been quite ill here lately. Other news about sick folks: Dr. H. T. Rogers is better, it is reported.

Ellett Lawrence, like Sax Weir and Cliff Hamby begin saying that the GCW aint worth a damn until and unless his own name gets in the GCW. I am sure Ellett will say this issue is an extremely fine issue when he reads it. Ellett and his friend, S. W. Dow of Brockton, Mass. Cadillaced over to Grenada Tuesday, saw Jim Cuff, me, Herman Heath, Grenada Dam, got some of Tommie Darras' fine coffee, ate a fine lunch at Monte Cristo, and Cadillaced back home to Greenwood in the swamp.

Mr. Dow is a big specialized printer in Brockton and once got a hold of a copy of Ellett's Pages in which he saw many things (probably something bad about po' old Roosevelt) that drew him to Ellett. This is the 2nd occasion that he got in his own Cadillac and came all the way to Greenwood to see Ellett. He seems to be like an old horse who wears loose harness - dont worry much about anything - goes where and when he pleases and seems to be genuinely a fine fellow in spite of being what we in the South call a gdyankee.

Some of these days, when the spirit moves me, I am going to have a lot of stuff about Ellett like I once did about Uncle Terrell. I know a heap about Ellett, some good, some bad, some neutral.

The slump in cattle prices is causing some of the Johnnie-come-lately grass users to begin thinking of going back to killing grass. Old man Will Martin quit killing grass fifty years ago and died rich. So far as I can recall, Mr. Will was the first man in the county who realized how very valuable grass was.

Smart folks are preparing to get MORE grass.
